This book proposes a complete pipeline for monocular single camera based 3D mapping of terrestrial and underwater environments The aim is to provide a solution to large scale scene modeling that is both accurate and efficient To this end we have developed a novel Structure from Motion algorithm that increases mapping accuracy by registering camera views directly with the maps The camera registration uses a dual approach that adapts to the type of environment bei From the Back Cover This book proposes a complete pipeline for monocular single camera based 3D mapping of terrestrial and underwater environments The aim is to provide a solution to large scale scene modeling that is both accurate and efficient To this end
